Heroes, Myths, and Legends - Irish Hurling

A fusion of legend and history, mythology and heroes, hurling stands alone as the oldest field game in the World. Predating Christianity, the game of Hurling dates to at least 3000 years ago in Ireland. With some of the earliest surviving written references to hurling found in 7th & 8th century Irish laws which describe various sporting injuries, its no doubt the sport is bruising and sometimes bloody. Hurling has survived the typical English attempt to suppress anything Irish and has reemerged as Ireland's National game. The finals are epic and the athletes are heroes. With the clatter and the break of the Hurley (stick), the "clash of the ash" (ash being used to make the stick) is almost as if watching the battles of mythical Irish warriors. The game is linked to the Gaelic Athletic Association and the rally of Ireland's youth in the drive for Independence. It's a fusion of legend and history. Even Michael Collins has rolled out a sliotar (leather ball) to start a game. In legend and myth, hurling is considered a form of martial training and proficiency which translates into skill in battle. Maybe even the great Irish hero Michael Collins drew from the power of the Hurley!

We see very early references to hurling in Irish myths and legends. Tain Bo Cuailgne, a legendary tale from early Irish literature, describes the exploits of Cu Chullainn. In the saga, Cu Chullainn (Hound of Cullen) kills a fierce guard dog by driving a sliotar down the hound's throat. Fighting this mythical beast, our hero uses a hurley and sliotar to kill this vicious hound. Possible representations of hurling are also found on two high crosses from Kells and Monasterboice. These dating to the 9th & 10th centuries A.D. On each of these crosses we see David killing a lion with what appears to be a sliotar and hurley. The 15th century Galloglass's grave slab from County Donegal clearly depicts a hurley and sliotar. Hurling thrived in early Ireland as a wild game and often violent practice with few set rules. With much variation in the forms of sticks and balls, the game, although similar, was different in the North than it was in the South. Legends apart, there are many references to hurling. For example, the Book of Leinster, written in 1152, gives an account of a hurling match between the people known as Fir Bolg and Tuathna De Danann. The game referenced dating to 1272 BC.

There have been a few attempts by the English to outlaw the game, but, it has survived and flourished. During the 14th Century the English were so alarmed by the assimilation of their colonists with the Irish that the playing of hurling was banned on pain of fines and imprisonment. Laws passed in 1367, 1527, and 1537 ended with the same result. Hurling lived on. Thank god for the Kilkenny men who are credited with saving the sport! In 1527 the English passed a law in Galway city which read "at no time to use ne occupy ye hurling of ye litill balle with the hookie sticks or staves, nor use no hand balle to play without the walls, but only the great foot balle". As early as 1527 it is clear the English didn't understand the Irish. Lord Chancellor William Garrard complains in 1587 that English settlers of Munster are "speaking Irish and playing hurling". Each attempt by the English to end the game fails. Even enduring the trials of the Great Hunger, a few strongholds kept the sport alive. There is no doubt; the Irish of the diaspora brought this great game to America and all the corners of the earth where we find those of Irish heritage.

The diaries of Amhlaoibh O Suilleabhain gives us a unique look at hurling by describing a 1827 match, "It was a good game. The sticks were being brandished like swords. Hurling is a war like game. The west side won the first match and the east the second. You could hear the sticks striking the ball from one end of the green to the other". With county rivalries born, hurling was on its way to being an organized sport.

Founded in 1884, the Gaelic Athletic Association, or GAA introduced a formal set of rules giving birth to the modern game played in Ireland today. The GAA codified the two hurling traditions of the north and south and inspired the modern game. With fifteen men on each side and a field of 145 x 90 meters the rules are simple. Goalposts similar to those of Rugby are found on each end of the field. A player may strike the sliotar on the ground or in the air. They may also pick up the sliotar with their hurley. Players may also carry the sliotar in their hand for not more than four steps, after which they may bounce the sliotar on the hurley and catch it again. An amazing skill. To score, the sliotar needs to be put over the crossbar for a point, or, below the crossbar for a goal of three. Games are high scoring and fast paced. Tackling is allowed, but, you may not hit another player with the hurley. Hurling is considered by many to be the fastest field game in the world.

Hurling is an amazing sport of skill and Irish legend. It is connected with the Gaelic Revival and the quest for Irish freedom. It is one of the world's oldest sports. I will never forget sitting in a Killarney pub watching a game of Hurling. Talking strategy and rules with some locals, this was one of my favorite memories of our trip to Ireland. I would encourage you all to follow and support the GAA and hurling. Not too many things are more Irish than the GAA and its connections with Irish Nationalism and Independence. Root for your favorite county or that of your ancestors, sit back, and enjoy a pint with the lads. During the season, you may hear me yell.....UP KERRY!!

Slainte,
Neil

GAELIC LANGUAGE CLASS
AT KINGSTON CATHOLIC SCHOOL, 159 BROADWAY,
KINGSTON, NY!

Every Friday night at 6:30 PM about 10 students and 1 teacher gather to explore the written and spoken language of Ireland and Scotland, namely Gaelic. She is one of the oldest languages in Europe, much older than English. At present, due to the singular beauty of the language and her natural attractiveness in a multitude of ways, people all over North America are flocking to local classes to learn Gaelic. The days where people of Irish and Scottish background in North America were embarrassed by the soft and lilting Gaelic and English spoken by their parents and Grandparents are LONG gone and practically forgotten. The new generation of Americans could care less about how long their families have lived on this side of the ocean and how well they are or are not assimilated into the American culture. They happily and fully embrace ANY language which catches their ears or imaginations; they exercise their freedom of choice! Many of the people in Gaelic class have NO connection to Ireland nor Scotland whatsoever. Often, people are drawn to the language because they hear Gaelic singers sing beautiful compositions that speak to them not in English, but in the international language of love. They will often say "I have no idea what words were just sung in that song, but I know exactly what it was about!"

Another possible reason for the attractiveness of the language is perhaps that the stories of the Gaels, a long history of hardship, brutality, exile and heroic sacrifice reach out to a world audience and make a profound emotional connection with them. Gone are the days of people, whether of Gaelic background or not, who have a negative attitude toward the language from having a serious and retarding influence on other folks who express an interest in learning Gaelic from doing so. Honestly, the people of today, especially the young generation could care less about the negative emotional baggage of anyone else, especially the older generation. Is this not a good and beautiful thing and how it should be? That's right; the individual expression of freedom towards whatever ends the person has in mind. When one stops to consider the fact that learning another language makes one more intelligent, knowledgeable about his own native language, and improves one's creativity amongst numerous other benefits, the fact is obvious that a celebration is in order!

In conclusion, tremendous advances in computer technology have advanced greatly the amount and rate of learning possible both in the classroom and at home. The interactive whiteboard as a presentation and learning tool makes the traditional chalkboard look like a primitive tool from the Stone Age! Gaelic class would be nonexistent without the generous support of KCS, Saint Mary's Parish, the ICCHV and the AOH and we thank all of them for their kindness and vision.

So, if you have even the slightest amount of curiosity, come on down Friday evening at 6:30 and learn the language of the Irish and Scottish Highlanders, connect with your birthright or your muse but mostly, have fun, make new friends, and feel good about what you can accomplish. $10 per class is a bargain!

PIPE, DRUM AND HONOR GUARD NEWS

Scott Benson

The Ulster County AOH Pipe and Drum band participated at two local events this month: A special arrival fanfare ceremony for His Eminence Timothy Cardinal Dolan at St. Mary and St. Peter's 175th anniversary mass; and a special Palm Sunday parade organized by Fr Salvador Cordaro in New Paltz.

We welcomed some new members and hope to provide a great representation of the AOH for the upcoming Memorial Day Ceremonies.

Practice has been moved to Wednesday nights, starting at 6:30pm, at the White Eagle; anyone interested in learning is welcome to attend. Beginners classes are held Saturday mornings, 8:00 AM at Arace Electric,

We are always looking for new members for the Pipes, Drums, or Honor Guard. If you would like to learn to play the Pipes, Drums or participate as part of the Honor Guard you are welcome. Call for information about the band. Please contact Jim Carey or Robin Carey at 338-6622 or any member of the band and be ready to have some fun and laughs.

NEXT MEETING

May 9, 2017

6:30 PM

Divine Mercy Room
St. Mary's St Peter's Church

What a beautiful Easter we had! May we all continue to bask in the glory of the Resurrection and this wonderful season of spring!

Susan Feeney was sworn in as a member of the LAOH. She is a member of St. Mary's St. Peters and was sponsored by Kathleen Houghtaling. Welcome Susan! Thank you Kathleen Houghtaling for volunteering to step in as Vice President for the remainder of the year. With nominations and elections right around the corner, please consider volunteering your time and effort to be a Board Member.

We will be hosting a Degree Ceremony, conducted by the Trinity Degree Team, in Kingston, at a date to be announced. Unfortunately, the Degree team we've been in contact with has indicated they will be unable to make the trip to Kingston. Becky has been in touch with the Trinity Degree Team, who is more than happy to help us host a Degree Ceremony. As many members of the team will be in Ireland the end of April, she will discuss a date with them at the NYS Board meeting in May and report back to the membership. Becky thanks you for your patience and understanding, as circumstances beyond her control has caused this date to be changed twice. The Degrees of our Order are an essential part of being a member of the Ladies Ancient Order of Hibernians, Inc.

The Cups-Cooks-Canvas Fundraiser sponsored by the LAOH, a painting with a purpose for Aurora "Rory" Decker, a two-year-old child from Port Ewen who is going through a BRAVE battle with cancer, was a HUGE success. Thank you Pam Boyle and Chrissie Wrixon for chairing this event.

Our NYS board meeting is scheduled for Saturday, May 6, 2017 at 9:30 A.M. SHARP (9:15 a.m. sign in) at the Gavin's Irish County Inn, 118 Golden Hill Road, Cornwallville, NY (outside of East Durham) 12418. The meeting will be held in Gavin's main dining room and everyone is welcome to join us at a post-meeting luncheon. The cost is $15. Please let Becky know if you wish to attend the meeting and/or the luncheon.

In lieu of a traditional testimonial dinner to honor LAOH New York State President and our sister, Karen Keane, LAOH Albany is hosting a carnival for Karen on Saturday, May 6, from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. at Gavin's Country Inn following the state board meeting in East Durham. Beer, wine, soda and hors d'oeuvres are included in the $25 ticket price. There will be carnival-type games and a souvenir ad journal to benefit the Patricia Doyle Memorial grant, which will be awarded during the LAOH NYS Biennial Convention in Buffalo this coming July. Please let Becky know if you are interested in attending.

Our Lady of Knock Pilgrimage Mass will be held in East Durham, NY, on May 7. More details to follow. St. Mary's St. Peter's Communion breakfast will be held on May 21, at Savanna's after the 9:30 a.m. Mass. All are invited. More information will be available at the forthcoming meetings.

The LAOH "Birthright Shower" will take place at the May meeting. Birthright has been providing love, support and hope for women/babies for over 45 years. Our local chapter located in the old St. Peter's School building on Adams Street provides diapers, formula, clothes and other donated items for newborns and small children. There is no charge. Birthright relies on donations from community supporters. At this time Birthright is especially in need of hygiene items such as shampoo, body wash, etc., socks in T sizes, clothes in sizes 3-5 (both boys and girls) and baby cereal. If anyone wishes to give a monetary donation, checks should be made out to Ulster County Birthright.

Scholarship applications are now available. Please contact Pat Clausi at 338-3868 or patricia.sulivanclaus@gmail.com for more information. Applications are available to graduating seniors from high school who is children/grandchildren of good standing LAOH members.

The chairs for the June social are Becky Dunne, Grace Rodriguez and Chrissie Wrixon. At the May meeting, they will be prepared to present to the membership three places to vote on. This event ("picnic") will be held on June 13 in lieu of our regular meeting. Family and friends are invited. More information is forthcoming.

The Hooley Chairs are Pam Boyle, Chrissie Wrixon, Becky Dunne, Pat

Schiskie and Betty Manicone. Thank you, ladies, for stepping up to the plate. As always, we know the Hooley on the Hudson scheduled for September 3 will be as successful as always!

The Columban Fathers are the principal charity of the Ladies Ancient Order of Hibernians, Inc., as was pledged to Bishop Galvin in 1935. The Missionary Society of St. Columban (also known as the Columban Fathers) was founded by Fathers Edward Galvin and John Blowick of Ireland in 1918 to proclaim and witness to the Good News of Jesus Christ. Today, the Society is comprised of nearly 700 Columban missionaries, including priests, seminarians and lay missionaries. The demands of the Gospel call us to stand with the poor. The suffering of the downtrodden becomes our cross, too. That is the work of the Missionary Society of St. Columban in the United States and around the world. They cross boundaries of country, language and culture to establish the Catholic Church among people who have not heard or have barely heard the Gospel. They help churches mature until they are able to evangelize their own people, and promote dialogue between Christians and those of other religious faiths. Since 1921, the headquarters for the Society in the United States has been located near Bellevue, Nebraska (south of Omaha). However, they have a location right in NYS. St. Columban's on the Lake is a retirement community on Lake Erie ministered to by Columban Sisters. It houses Columbian priests and other retirees. There is also a retirement home in Bristol, Rhode Island. As you know, St. Bridget is also very associated with the LAOH. Thank you Rose Ferraro-Bruck for your donation to purchase a new St. Bridget statue!

At our May meeting, we will raffle off a handmade crocheted American flag that was donated to the LAOH by Lynn Gorman's family after her death. Everyone who is interested in winning the flag is eligible. If you are not planning to attend the meeting, tell someone to submit your name for the raffle.

Please always remember to reach out to our membership if you are in need of prayers or some kind of help. At one time or another, we all need assistance. We are fortunate to be a sisterhood who are there for each other.

Again, thank you to everyone who made all the March activities successful and fun. They were all carried out with pride and professionalism! No wonder the LAOH keeps growing! Have a happy and safe Memorial Day. Remember those who gave their lives so we might live in freedom. God Bless America!
